FOOD IS ULTIMATE PRAYER: We are what we eat. The nutrition in the food nourishes our physique and influences our mind (thoughts). Our sastras say eating is a prayer and there is a deep philosophy behind the food we consume, said Tirukkudanthai Dr. Venkatesh.

Our scriptures say moderate diet, moderate physical activity combined with moderate wakefulness will render a man healthy in life. The food one eats influences the mind. Once, Narada approached sage Sanatkumar and sought to be shown the path of knowledge. Sanatkumar asked Narada what he knew, to which the sage replied, "I am very well read, but I know only the words, and not their true meaning." Sanatkumar then says, "speech is greater than words, mind is better than speech, determination (will) is greater than mind, consciousness (presence of mind) is greater than will, meditation is better than that, knowledge is greater than meditation, physical strength is better than knowledge and nutritious food is better than physical strength.." and concludes by saying that while everything in this world is subject to change, the Supreme Lord is not and one should seek Him.

One may ask how food can influence the mind. Lord Krishna explains this in the Bhagavad Gita (Chapter XVII). In keeping with the threefold nature of human beings, namely, satva, rajas and tamas, the food liked by each is also threefold.

Above all, the food we eat is what we are offering God — Antaryami — within us. When served with a prayer (chanting Govinda, Govinda), the food becomes the ultimate prayer. —In The Hindu

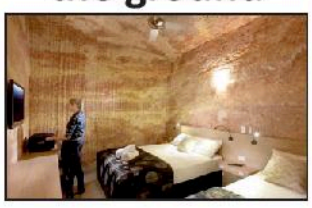
Entire town lives below the ground



Adelaide: Coober Pedy, a small, eccentric, magnificently strange settlement in the South Australian Outback, roughly 850 kilometres north of Adelaide is the opal capital of the world. It has appeared in multiple Hollywood films and it contains what is almost certainly one of the most unusual communities in human history.

Around half of its 2,500-odd residents live in homes dug into hillsides, called dugouts and they have been doing so for over a century.

The reason is simple and quite extreme: the heat above ground is so brutal that living on the surface is genuinely difficult. So the town went downward instead. And it is open to visitors. From above, Coober Pedy appears deserted, with low, reddish mounds from opal mining and iron pipes marking ventilation shafts for underground dugouts.

Few buildings stand and signs caution visitors about unmarked mine shafts, with over 2,50,000 entrances posing a hazard.

World's longest tiramisu assembled

Chelsea: A team of 100 Italian chefs gathered in London, United Kingdom, to cook and assemble a world record-breaking tiramisu measuring 1,445 feet long.

A Guinness World Records adjudicator was on site at Chelsea Town Hall to confirm if the massive dessert broke the record previously set by an 897-foot-long tiramisu made in Milan, Italy, in 2019.

Mirko Ricci, who had organised the London attempt, previously held the record in 2017, before it was broken in 2019.

The finished dessert contained about 2.2 tonnes of mascarpone cheese, 50,000 ladyfinger cookies and more than 3,000 eggs.

REALLY...?

- The Great Wall is the largest defence project in China and the world with the longest span of construction time. Its construction has been on and off for over 2,000 years since the 7th century BC, with a vast expanse of the territory in the northern and central parts of China. Extending as long as 50,000 kilometres, it is a massive project rarely found, hailed as one of the seven wonders in the medieval world along with the Colosseum in Rome and the Leaning Tower of Pisa in Italy.
- The Great Wall is not a single-structured wall, it includes beacon towers, barriers, barracks, garrison stations and fortresses along the walls, together forming an integrated defence system.

Address congestion at City Railway Station entrance

Sir,

I am writing to highlight a persistent issue regarding traffic management at the entrance of the Mysuru City Railway Station, which is causing significant inconvenience to regular commuters. During the early morning hours, coinciding with the arrival of long-distance trains, the entrance becomes severely congested due to the haphazard parking of autorickshaws.

While one understands the drivers' need to find passengers, their current habit of congregating at the narrow entry point effectively blocks the flow of traffic.

This makes it a stressful ordeal for private vehicles trying to reach the designated parking zones or drop-off points.

It is also observed that there is often a lack of Traffic Police presence during these busy morning windows to guide the flow of vehicles.

The absence of a systematic queue or a regulated entry process leads to avoidable confusion and delays for everyone involved. I request the authorities concerned to look into this matter and perhaps depute a few personnel at the gate to ensure that autorickshaws and private vehicles can coexist without blocking each other.

Teen city cyclist earns Super Randonneur title

Nirmal Choyal with G.S. Sunil Kumar, Head, Audax, Mysuru.

Mysuru, May 2 (BCT)- Eighteen-year-old Nirmal Choyal has become one of the youngest cyclists from Mysuru to achieve the Super Randonneur title under Audax.

The feat demands high levels of endurance, consistency and self-sufficiency in non-competitive cycling. Nirmal completed the full series, marking a rare achievement at his age and placing him among a select group of endurance cyclists from the State.

He credits his inspiration to cousin Mahesh Choudhary, an endurance cyclist who has completed events such as Paris-Brest-Paris and London-Edinburgh-London. He is also motivated by 58-year-old cyclist Likmaram, who cycled from Kashmir to Kanyakumari, covering 3,700 km in 22 days.

Rs. 62 lakh fraud: CCB arrests gold firm owner

Mysuru, May 2 (PM&VNS)- The City Crime Branch (CCB) Police have arrested Sounder Raj alias Chinnatambi, owner of Dhana Ganapathy Gold and Diamond (DGF) Company, on charges of cheating customers by allegedly failing to return pledged gold.

The Kuvempunagar Police registered an FIR against him based on a complaint filed by H. Mahantesh of Davangere. Acting on the case, CCB sleuths took Sounder Raj into custody. He was produced before a Court and remanded to Police custody for further investigation.

According to the Police, the accused lured customers by promising higher loan amounts at lower interest rates against pledged gold. However, he allegedly failed to return the gold to the customers.

Sounder Raj

In his complaint, Mahantesh stated that he, along with his friends Sushma, Mala, Brahmareddy and Rekha, had pledged 1.100 kg of gold at a Karnataka Bank branch on P.B. Road, Davangere, on Apr. 15, 2024 and obtained a loan of Rs. 62 lakh.

He said that after coming across an advertisement by DGF Gold and Diamond Company claiming to facilitate the release of pledged gold at favourable terms, they contacted the firm on Feb. 20 and shared details of their pledged gold.

The following day, a group led by one Manjunath, claiming to be company representatives, visited their residence.

Mahantesh alleged that the group transferred Rs. 62.05 lakh to the accounts of the five individuals and later took them to Mysuru. He claimed that during the process, the accused cheated them while weighing the gold and threatened them when they raised objections.

He further alleged that the accused melted 560 grams of gold jewellery and a 100-gram gold biscuit, and told them that the remaining gold would be pledged again, asking them to collect it after six months. A receipt was issued and an additional Rs. 2 lakh in cash was also given along with the bank transfers, he said.

However, when they contacted the company after six months, they were allegedly told that the gold had been sold and would not be returned. Mahantesh has urged the Police to take action against Sounder Raj and others associated with the company for fraud and cheating.

It may be recalled that several customers had recently staged a protest in front of the City Police Commissioner's office, accusing a company owned by Sounder Raj of fraud.

Commercial cylinder price hiked by Rs. 991 in Mysuru

19-kg LPG cylinder to cost Rs. 3,132; hoteliers weigh price hike options

Mysuru, May 2 (MTY&VNS)-A steep hike of Rs. 991 in commercial LPG cylinder prices has dealt a fresh blow to the hotel industry in Mysuru, with many establishments now considering a revision in menu prices.

While the Union Government announced a nationwide increase of Rs. 993 yesterday, the hike in Mysuru stands at Rs. 991. With this, the price of a commercial cylinder has jumped from Rs. 2,141 in April to Rs. 3,132 now.

Hoteliers point out that this is part of a sharp upward trend, with prices rising by as much as Rs. 1,440 between Mar. 1, 2026 and May 1.

The increase comes at a time when the industry is still reeling from losses caused by supply constraints during March and April, which hoteliers attribute to disruptions linked to geopolitical tensions in West Asia.

In a press release, Mysore Hotel Owners Association President C. Narayanagowda condemned the hike, saying it would impact not only the hotel sector but also customers, including tourists who depend heavily on eateries.

"A nearly 25 percent increase in cylinder prices will inevitably push up food costs. Customers are already burdened by rising prices and this will only add to their woes," he said.

He urged the Union Government to roll back the hike and explore using GST revenues to offset LPG procurement costs until the situation stabilises.

For now, the association has decided against an immediate price hike, noting that hotels had recently increased prices by Rs. 5 to Rs. 10. However, operators say sustaining current rates may not be viable for long.

Hoteliers say they are already grappling with rising input costs. "We have to manage rent, salaries, electricity and taxes. This hike only adds to the pressure," said Nirmith Nithyanand, Managing Director of Nithyotsava Group. "We understand the burden on customers, but a 10 to 15 per cent increase in menu prices may become unavoidable."

Commercial Cylinder price rise

• Jan. 1, 2026	Rs. 1,744.50

Following a complaint lodged by Anjaneylu Nidjelli, Chief Risk Officer, M/s NSPIRA Management Services Pvt. Ltd, Hyderabad, Telangana, Kuvempunagar Police have filed a First Information Report (FIR) against the three under Bharatiya Nyaya Samhita (BNS) Sections 316 (2), 318 (a), 324 (4) (5) and 3 (5), for misappropriation of funds and criminal conspiracy.

In his complaint on Apr. 30, Nidjelli had stated that, Gururaj, having an unholy nexus with co-accused, had debited Rs. 4.7 crore from the Collection Account in ICICI Bank, Saraswathipuram branch and had transferred the same without any authorisation, on Mar. 11.

He has further alleged that, to unlawfully gain control over the funds of the institution, the accused had fraudulently altered the authorised signatory of NSPIRA in the Collection Account without any knowledge or consent. The authorised representative of NSPIRA Syed Muddassir was removed and replaced with Dechamma, in complete violation of agreement.

According to Nidjelli, NSPIRA and M/s Chaitra Educational Trust have entered into a Master Services Agreement, dated June 15, 2022, vesting special powers to NSPIRA to control and manage the institute.

Post result thoughts:

You don't flunk LIFE just Because you flunked an EXAM

Every year, when SSLC and Pre-University results are announced, the State witnesses a familiar cycle of joy, disappointment, relief and grief. But what should garner our attention is... death.

Last week, five students ended their lives following their results. Three of them did so because they did not secure the marks they had hoped for.

Children, barely 15 or 18, are concluding that life itself is not worth living because of an examination.

According to the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB), over 13,000 students died by suicide in 2023. Nearly 10,000 of them were below 18. Among the reasons cited, failure in examinations remains a prominent trigger.

The result season in India is no longer an academic checkpoint. It is a social spectacle.

Colleges seek rankings to boost their market value. School principals chase pass percentages to secure their positions. Coaching centres hunt for toppers to fill their advertisements. Parents, often unconsciously, seek validation through their children's marks.

In today's climate, even excellence has been devalued. Marks in the 90s, once celebrated, now barely raise eyebrows. Cut-offs hover at 98 percent, and even there, competition is fierce.

We have created a system where achievement is inflated and self-worth is deflated.

In India, failure in SSLC or PUC is not treated as a setback; it is treated as a full stop. At 15 or 18, an exam becomes a verdict.

A poor result is internalised as permanent inadequacy. The idea that one can recover, recalibrate, and rise again is rarely communicated with conviction.

Add to this the steady inflation of qualifications and the pressure increases.

There was a time when a high school certificate ensured a stable livelihood. Then came degrees, which once distinguished individuals. Soon, degrees became commonplace.

Postgraduate qualifications followed the same trajectory. Today, even multiple degrees struggle to guarantee opportunity.

We are pushing children to chase credentials that are steadily losing their currency, while ignoring abilities that may actually matter in the future, such as creativity, adaptability, and entrepreneurial thinking.

Our education system continues to reward conformity over curiosity. It stigmatises talent that does not fit neatly into conventional academic success. We are still judging a fish by its ability to climb trees. But that is set to change.

> "Emotional intelligence is important to navigate life. Indeed, exams matter. Good marks open lucrative doors... but, once you step through that door into the real world, your EQ (Emotional Quotient) will be more important than IQ (Intelligence Quotient)."

With Artificial Intelligence reshaping industries and career paths, the future will belong not merely to those who score well but to those who can think independently and innovate.

More importantly, those who are emotionally resilient.

Encouragingly, some institutions like 10X, an offshoot of Indus School in Bengaluru, have begun integrating entrepreneurship and practical learning alongside traditional academics.

But such efforts will remain the exception, not the norm.

At its core, the crisis is not about exams. It is about how we interpret them. The present standards don't need dilution, just a broadening of perspective.

Emotional intelligence must become as important as academic achievement. Children must be taught that failure should not be fatal and that detours in life are natural. Because the cost of not doing so is already evident.

Emotional intelligence is important to navigate life. Indeed, exams matter. Good marks open lucrative doors... but, once you step through that door into the real world, your EQ (Emotional Quotient) will be more important than IQ (Intelligence Quotient).

A rank student today may later fail in life if they do not have the emotional intelligence to handle pressure, politics, disappointment and stress of the workplace and life.

In fact, many students who have faced failure in college tend to develop emotional resilience and handle tragedies and disappointments of life better, helping them win the exam of life.

One may recall that former Indian President Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam often stated, "The best brains of the nation may be found on the last benches of the classroom."

This famous quote highlights his belief that true talent, intelligence, and creativity are not defined by the traditional idea of grades and academic conformity.

For now, while our system evolves, and it will, with changing economic realities and technological shifts, we must at least ensure that our children understand one simple truth:

You don't flunk life just because you flunked an exam.

In the vast tapestry of life, an examination is but a single thread. It should never be mistaken for the whole fabric of life.

Junk Yard!

77 scrapped KSRTC buses left on Srirampura roads

Mysuru, May 2 (MTY&BCT)- The auction of 77 overage KSRTC buses by the Mysuru City Division has ended up choking traffic in parts of the city, with several scrapped vehicles left parked along busy roads in Srirampura.

The buses, including 33 Volvo coaches, were recently auctioned in line with Motor Vehicles Act norms and bought by a Bengaluru-based firm for Rs. 1 crore.

While the contractor has begun shifting vehicles from the Kuvempunagar Depot, residents say many buses have been dumped along the stretch between Vivekananda Circle and Naidu Store in Srirampura 2nd Stage.

With buses lined up on either side, the road has effectively narrowed, leading to long traffic snarls during peak hours.

Traders say the congestion has also hit business. "Vehicles are getting stuck for long stretches now. What used to be a smooth road has become a bottleneck," said a commuter.

Residents also flagged safety risks, especially at night and during rain. "Motorists are forced to weave around the buses. There have already been minor accidents," another resident said.

Following complaints, KSRTC Mysuru Divisional Controller H.T. Veeresh said that the buses had been handed over to the contractor and would be moved to a scrapping yard near Srirangapatna.

He said, delays were due to a shortage of transport vehicles and assured that the remaining buses would be cleared soon.

Two die as boat capsizes at KRS Backwaters

Mysuru, May 2 (AG&BCT)- Two persons from Bengaluru died after a boat capsized at the backwaters of the KRS Dam in Mandya district yesterday. A case has been registered at the Pandavapura Police Station.

The victims were part of a 5-member family originally from Kerala and settled in Bengaluru. The family, comprising a couple, their child & the husband's elderly parents, had gone for a boating activity at a sailing club near KRS Backwaters. All were wearing life jackets, as mandated.

According to the Police, the boat overturned due to strong winds, throwing the occupants into the water. The elderly couple, identified as Manjunath (68) and Jessy (65), are believed to have inhaled water amid turbulent conditions. Rescue teams rushed to the spot and brought all 5 persons ashore. Medical teams attempted to revive the elderly victims, but they were declared dead. The bodies were shifted to Pandavapura Govt. Hospital, where a post-mortem was conducted before handing them over to relatives.

Mandya DC Dr. Kumara is expected to visit the sailing club today. Further details from the sailing club and authorities are awaited.

Varuna Lake revival on; water drained

Rs. 14.75 crore project; Ornithologists flag risks to bird habitat from sewage inflow

Mysuru, May 2 (MTY& BCT)- Varuna Lake, once a lifeline for agriculture, livestock and birdlife, is set for a major revival, with the Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Limited (CNNL) taking up a Rs. 14.75 crore restoration project.

The plan focuses on cleaning and reviving the Lake using eco-friendly biological methods while improving its surroundings. As part of the initial works, water has been drained from the Lake.

However, environmental experts have flagged serious concerns, urging immediate steps to stop sewage inflow. They warn that unchecked urbanisation is degrading the Lake's ecosystem and threatening both resident and migratory bird populations.

With new housing layouts reportedly channelling untreated waste water into the Lake, experts stress that restoration must prioritise ecological integrity.

Ornithologist Sapta Girish cautioned against excessive intervention. "Sewage inflow must be stopped, but altering the landscape in the name of development will harm biodiversity," he said.

He suggested natural bio-filtration systems, such as bunds or canals planted with pollutant-absorbing species, to treat contaminated water before it reaches the Lake. Experts have also recommended earmarking 50 percent of the Lake as a core conservation zone, free from human interference and securing the buffer area to prevent waste dumping.

Birdlife a key concern

Migratory species have already stopped visiting the Lake in recent years, with boating activity cited as a major disturbance. Experts warn that without safeguards, bird populations dependent on the Lake could face further stress.

Spread over about 175.16 acres near Chikkahalli village under Varuna Gram Panchayat in Mysuru taluk, the Lake has historically supported groundwater recharge, irrigation, cattle needs and birdlife.

Located along the Mysuru-T. Narasipur highway, it has, however, suffered severe pollution over the past two decades due to sewage inflow from rapidly developing localities such as Vajamangala, Bhugathagalli and Chikkahalli, leading to ecological degradation and foul odour.

Water quality tests by the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board have classified the Lake under 'D' category, indicating potential health risks.

Officials said a natural canal will be created around the Lake to divert sewage. Special plant species will be grown along the canal to absorb pollutants before the water is discharged into the Kodi stream, preventing contamination of the Lake. A protective bund will also be formed using dredged soil, with greenery planned along it.

Once sewage inflow is curbed, the focus will shift to limited public amenities, including a walking path, children's park and landscaped areas. A cafeteria has been proposed, while boating may be revived after completion of the works. The project aims to balance ecological restoration with public use, restoring Varuna Lake as a sustainable water resource without compromising its natural character.

'Residential layouts blocking natural water channels'

Mysuru, May 2 (MTY& BCT)- Social activist Ahinda Javarappa has reiterated his long-standing campaign against encroachments around Varuna Lake.

Spread over 175.16 acres, the Lake spans Varuna survey No. 159 (165 acres), Chikkahalli survey No. 17 (6.23 acres) and Vajamangala survey No. 317 (3.28 acres) and remains a lifeline for surrounding villages.

Javarappa said that earlier, rainwater flowing from Chamundi Hill reached Thippayyanakere and then fed Varuna Lake. However, the rise of new residential layouts blocked and encroached upon natural water channels. Following protests, a plan was drawn up to divert water from the Varuna canal into the Lake.

In recent years, he noted, sewage inflow from these layouts has polluted the Lake, degrading its ecosystem. A canal is proposed around the Lake to prevent sewage from entering it.

Javarappa also pointed out that the Vajamangala Gram Panchayat had earlier permitted development within the Lake's buffer zone. He stressed the need to protect the buffer and remove illegal structures.

Pure drinking water unit goes defunct

Mysuru, May 2 (VVH&BS)- The pure drinking water unit at the premises of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Zone-2 office in Krishnamurthypuram here, has gone defunct, leaving the residents of surrounding localities severely inconvenienced.

At the drop of old gold colour coin of Rs. five face value, 20 litres of water purified through reverse osmosis (RO) process, can be collected at such drinking water units, the facility which is popular among the residents across the city. However, the similar unit at Krishnamurthypuram, has gone kaput, due to lack of maintenance related issues.

It has been a week since the issue persists, but neither of MCC officials, have chose to resolve the issue, at least in the interest of the people. Till recent spell of rains, which brought respite to the people suffering from sweltering heat, the consumption of drinking water among the people had notably gone high to beat the heat. Apart from taps installed at the households, the people, including the households and commercial areas, were largely dependent on such pure drinking water units to quench their thirst.

It is high time, the water unit is restored, as the drinking water always counts among other basic amenities, the people urged.

WORD OF THE DAY

Speculate

Pronunciation: SPEK-yuh-layt (Verb)
Meaning: In general contexts, speculate means "to form ideas or theories about something usually when there are many things not known about it." In contexts relating to business or finance, it means "to invest money in ways that could produce a large profit but that also involve a lot of risk."
Origin: It might be said that what separates our species from others is our tendency "to meditate on or ponder a subject." That's original 16th century meaning of speculate. It's a use not too distant from today's most common sense, which also involves mind and thinking: when someone speculates about something, they think and make guesses about it, often forming unsubstantiated ideas or theories. But the origins of speculate lie not in thinking but in looking—the word comes from Latin specere, meaning "to look," or "to look at." We don't have to look far to find other specere descendants, and we'll point them out here with some italics: a cursory inspection reveals spectacle, spectrum, specimen and perspective. Less conspicuous are despise, prospect and species.
Example: "Bad Bunny wore an all-cream ensemble consisting of a collared shirt and tie, chinos and a sport-inspired jersey bearing name "Ocasio"—his surname — and the number 64. The significance of the number was not confirmed, but fans were quick to speculate that it referenced his mother's birth year." —Lara Owen, The Independent (United Kingdom), 9 Feb. 2026.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A Penny for your Thoughts

Meaning: What are you thinking about?
Origin: The earliest written citation of the idiom "A penny for your thoughts" can be traced back to the 16th century. It is attributed to Sir Thomas More, who used a variation of it in his book "A Treatyce upon the last thynges" in 1534. In this context, the phrase means "Tell me what you are thinking", with the implication that you're willing to pay money to know what someone is actually thinking. Interestingly, the saying originated during a time when the British penny was worth a significant sum. In 1522, Sir Thomas More wrote in 'Four Last Things': "It often happeth, that the very face sheweth the mind walking a pilgrimage, in such wise that other folk sodainly say to them 'a penny for your thought'". John Heywood's book "The Proverbs of John Heywood", first published in 1546, also contains a similar citation: "Fréend (quoth the good man) a penny for your thought".
Example: Steffany, you look very pleased today. A penny for your thought?
